

Janesville Daily Gazette.

VOLUME 8. JANESVILLE, WIS., THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1864. NUMBER 1.

Janesville Daily Gazette.
PUBLISHED DAILY IN LAFAYETTE BLOCK, JANESVILLE, WIS.
By THOMSON & ROBERTS.
The terms of the DAILY GAZETTE are as follows: Cash in advance.
THE CITY, by express, per year, $7.00
MAIL, ONE YEAR, " " " 5.00
SIX MONTHS, " " " 3.00
THREE MONTHS, " " " 1.50
A. M. THOMSON, PUBLISHER.
W. G. ROBERTS, EDITOR.

THE NEWS.

The movements of the Potomac Army thus far have been successful. Gen. Custer succeeded in destroying a rebel camp near Stauntonville and capturing a number of prisoners and horses. Having engaged the attention of Lee's army till Kilpatrick got a good start on his expedition, he re-crossed the Rapidan. The Richmond papers of the 25th do not seem to suspect the movement. Our morning report has nothing very definite as to Kilpatrick's expedition, further than we have before had, nor any thing new from Sherman.

Our afternoon report, by rebel accounts, puts Sherman on the retreat towards Vicksburg. We shall wait for better authority.

Gold is up to 65.

STATE NEWS.

The body of a dead man was found in Milwaukee river on Tuesday. It had been in the water some time and bore the evidence of violence upon it. No one recognized it. The body of a dead infant was also found under a platform in the rear of a store near Walker Point Bridge. J. H. Whitman, Esq., of Milwaukee has been appointed General Western Passenger Agent of the Grand Trunk Railway. This gentleman is very favorably known as having for a long time connected with the Grand Trunk Railway. A man named Young, confined in the Juneau jail for shooting a man, made his escape on Monday last. The ship yard at Prairie du Chien is employing all the hands it can get. The quota of Stoughton under all calls has been filled. The Stoughton Reporter says a neighbor of Mr. Salmon Griggs, by the name of Clark, both of whom live south of Cooksville, Rock Co., has been arrested and sent to jail for stealing a horse of Mr. G. Clark was exposed by one of his comrades who "turned State's evidence."

The next semi-annual meeting of the District Convention of Presbyterian & Congregational Churches will be held in Stoughton on the second Tuesday of September next. The last session was at Delavan, and closed the 15th inst.

Admiral Lin's report of the recent wholesale destruction of blockade runners at and off Wilmington, makes mention of the death, by drowning, of the notorious pirate, Capt. Cosseter, who, with his pursuer, attempted to reach the shore in a boat from his ship, the Finnie. Cosseter, it will be remembered, initiated his career of rebellion and piracy as commander of the brig J. F. Davis, which he ran ashore and burned near San Agustine, in Florida, about two years ago. Next he turned up in the privateer Redoubt, and committed serious depredations for a while. This craft he handed over to a brother pirate, Parker, since connected with the capture of the Chippewa. Latterly he has been engaged in blockade running, and once before had a narrow escape, his vessel being wrecked. He tried it again and now, the sharks have got him. This is the end of Cosseter.

FROM MADISON.

Editorial Correspondence.
MADISON, March 2, 1864.
Yesterday afternoon we set apart for the consideration of the political resolutions introduced by Gen. Starks, endorsing the Administration of Abraham Lincoln, and recommending his re-election to the Presidency. As was to be expected, Gen. B. Smith gave us a rehearsal of the copperhead arguments against the policy of the Administration in carrying on the war, the same that have been the burden of every rebel sympathizer's song for the last two years, whether on the stump or in the newspapers. It occupied, in its delivery, two hours and three quarters, and contained as much partisan hate and bitter malignity as a tolerably smart copperhead could crowd in that amount of talk. I will not soil the new type of the Gazette by attempting to reproduce any of its venomous slanders against those who have been charged with the great and mighty duty of putting down this wicked and nefarious rebellion, brought on by the political yoke-fellows of Mr. Smith. He said all he could think of derogatory to the Administration, and denounced in unmeasured terms all the prominent acts of Mr. Lincoln which he and his friends thought were necessary and expedient in putting down the great Southern revolt. He said nothing new, but many things hateful and malicious. Any one familiar with the argument of the Ryan Address, or the editorials of the Chicago Times, will know what was the character of Smith's speech, when I assure him that it possessed the badness of both without the ability of either.

Brief speeches in reply to Smith were made by Messrs. Barry, Bingham, Hubbell and others, who probably occupied half as much time all combined as that taken up by Mr. Smith. "Divinity" Sanborn also took a "clatter" at the resolutions, in the course of which he said, speaking of the great Ohio warrier, that his friend from Dunn, (George B. Smith), deserved to be banished to Canada as much as Vallandigham did! This slip of the tongue was as true and as apposite, that the House became boisterous with laughter and applause. Without coming to a vote the Assembly adjourned at two o'clock A. M. on Wednesday.

Gen. Butler's Recent Movement—Its Objects and Why It Failed.

"Agents" of the well informed Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette gives the following particulars in reference to Gen. Butler's recent movement against Richmond:

Gen. Butler's plans embraced a co-ordinated movement of the Army of the Potomac, which should keep Lee too busy to attend to Richmond; and the division of his own force—once instructed to proceed as once to the destruction of the Tredegar Iron Works, another to prisoners confined in Libby Prison and on Belle Island, and the third to guard the avenues of escape and seize as many of the rebel officials as possible.

He visited Washington and laid these plans before the President. The President approved in the main, but referred him to Gen. Halleck. "I don't care anything about your plans; if you move on Richmond you do it on your own responsibility," was the substance of that officer's reply. Gen. Butler decided, if he would give him the troops, to take the responsibility, and returned to Fortress Monroe.

He had his eyes all through Richmond, and had familiarized himself with the defenses, avenues of approach and numbers to be overcome. It was reported that our prisoners were likely to be speedily removed to safer points in the Confederacy, and whatever was done, therefore, required to be done speedily.

Statements of the case and requests for the needed troops were sent to Washington; and on this will be furnished the arrangements for the movement were all completed. With five or six thousand cavalry (for, of course, the quick work of the dash into the rebel capital must be done by cavalry), he would have been satisfied. After waiting and waiting until the last possible moment, he received a beggarly three or four hundred!

This is the real secret of the brilliant failure. Gen. Butler determined to go ahead, and make the effort anyway; but his original plans had not depended upon absolute surprise of the rebel garrison at Richmond for their success. There were forty thousand spare troops about Washington. With five thousand more cavalry the leader of the expedition would have been prepared to force his way into the town, and liberate the prisoners, at least, whether the remainder of the programme had or had not been defeated by the untimely disclosure.

The Siege of Charleston.

A late letter from Charleston harbor to the Baltimore American says:

We have a constant and steady stream of deserters coming in, varying in number from four to ten daily. The majority of them are from North Carolina, but a large number are also from Virginia. A few every State is also represented. A few night ago, a rebel Lieutenant from Georgia came in. Day before yesterday Gen. Beauregard's baggage was deserted in a bag, and came over to Admiral Dahlgren. Their news is very interesting to the North. It seems that the rebels have eight torpedo boats like the David that attacked the Ironclad. These boats are all ready and are expected to come down tonight. They are represented as larger and as carrying two persons more than the original one. They perform great difficulty in getting across for them, although there are plenty of officers who volunteer for the duty.

The submarine affair, they say, came out of Beaufort last week, and was intended to attack the Monitor, but she sunk when on the passage, and drowned all hands. She was raised the succeeding night and towed in again. This makes the third time she has sunk, and drowned all hands. Eight vessels (blockade-runners) are expected soon by the rebels, loaded with a valuable cargo of guns and ammunition. The fleet is on the march. The number of vessels outside the bar has been doubled, and increased all the way up to night, and our people are well armed. The monitors have been rendered impregnable by tinders floating and torpedoes.

There have been lately two large fires in Charleston, caused by our shells. Do not say that they are now divided into two districts, viz: "in range" and "out of range," and that no other expression is used. "You hear constantly such remarks as 'Where are you going?' 'Well, I am going down in range,' or 'I am going out of range now.' 'Burglaries' occur every night in range, to the inhabitants do not dare to go to sleep, for a piece of one of the guns in Wagner's fort fired a piece out of St. Andrew's window last Sunday. It must have created a sensation, as they were holding worship there.

LOCAL MATTERS.

RESCUE-HOOK & LADDER.—The regular meeting of Rescue Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1, will be held at their rooms, this Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock, when a full roll call will be expected.

R. C. GEDDES, Secy.

DRAFT MEETING.—The citizens of Janesville are requested to meet at the Court Room, to-morrow evening, Friday, to consider what action, if any, is necessary to be taken in relation to the quota of this city under the last call of the President for volunteers.

MASS. CITIZENS.

CREDIT.—In the last report of the State Soldiers' Aid Society, at Milwaukee, we notice the following item:

Janesville S. A. S.—One box containing 10 sheets, 48 pairs drawers, 3 pillow cases, 10 pairs woolen socks, 5 dressing gowns, 8 towels, 2 pairs slippers, 2 feather pillows, 22 shirts.

HYATT'S KNIFE AND SCISSORS SHARPENER is one of the most ingenious and useful inventions of the age. By its use any one can sharpen knives, scissors, shears, or almost any edged instrument, with the greatest facility. See the advertisement, and call on Wm. Booth, 35-4, and see the machine work.

AN ACCIDENT.—The "American House" Omnibus was run away with last evening. At the time, a gentleman and lady were inside, and when a few rods north of Messrs. Oront & Clark's steam elevator, the gentleman jumped out without receiving any injury. The lady was not so fortunate, for in attempting to jump out she fell and was severely injured on the head and other parts of her body. She was immediately taken to one of the residences in that neighborhood, and Dr. Glutzendun was called, and everything done to make her comfortable. We could not learn the name of the unfortunate lady, but understand she is a sister of Robert Howell, Esq., of Watertown, Wis.

HERE SUNDAY SCHOOL FESTIVAL.—There was an exceedingly pleasant gathering of the Hope Mission Sunday School, last evening at the court room. The hall was filled with the members of the school, and invited guests. The following was the order of exercises had during the evening:

Prayer: Singing: Welcome by Master F. A. Lawrence: Remarks by Rev. Mr. Goodspeed: Dedication by Master Charles Beardsley: Remarks by Dr. D. S. Beardsley: Singing: The Lord's Prayer: Testimony by a scholar: Refreshments: Prayers.

INTERNAL REVENUE—ANNUAL TAX FOR 1864.—Attention is especially called to an advertisement of the U. S. Assessor for this district to be found in our columns to-day. The several Assistant Assessors are now prepared to receive returns of income, returns of articles subject to special tax, and applications for license, as required by law. All such returns and applications for 1864, must be made to the Assessor or Assistant, on or before the first Monday of May next, or the Assessor will be compelled to assess the same, and add fifty per cent. as penalty. It is hoped that there will be no occasion for adding penalties. All necessary blanks, and information on the subject, can be obtained of the Assessor or of any of his Assistants. The income tax will be levied upon the incomes for the year ending on the 31st day of December, 1863. Persons will confer a great favor upon the Assistant Assessors by preparing their statements as early as possible. All licenses now issued expire on the first day of May next, and applications for renewal will run from that time for a year.

Forty Dollars Bounty.

Messrs. Editors.—I do not reply to the communication of Mr. Burgess of the 23d ult., for the mere sake of replying, but to qualify some statements which I presume Mr. L. upon further reflection would modify himself. His memory is, at fault when he states that the forty dollar bounty was voted at a meeting held on the evening of the 24th of August, 1862, because that was Sunday evening, and the fact is, the bounty was voted on the evening of the 16th of August, and on the evening of the 22d of August the quota for the city was filled. I do not see how there could have been any great mistake about our having raised only 50 men, when it was announced in the Gazette as early as the 19th of August, two or three days after the bounty was voted, that our quota would be 80 certainly, and upon a dispatch from the Adjutant General, announcing the government had called for 9,000 men, to fill up old regiments, the editors remark, "this will add about thirty to the city above previous estimate." So that if the original number was 50, we knew within three days the number would be nearer 80.

My own recollection is that Mr. Lawrence stated upon his return from Madison, that matters there were in great confusion, and the best he could do was only to give the approximate number, and that nobody pretended to set upon the number of 50 or 55 as certain, because no one pretended to know the number required. There was no enrollment then. The enrollment even of the State Militia had not been completed, and our Provost Marshal was in no position to afford peculiar aid, because he was at that time acting as Sheriff

FROM MADISON.

Editorial Correspondence.
MADISON, March 2, 1864.
Yesterday afternoon we set apart for the consideration of the political resolutions introduced by Gen. Starks, endorsing the Administration of Abraham Lincoln, and recommending his re-election to the Presidency. As was to be expected, Gen. B. Smith gave us a rehearsal of the copperhead arguments against the policy of the Administration in carrying on the war, the same that have been the burden of every rebel sympathizer's song for the last two years, whether on the stump or in the newspapers. It occupied, in its delivery, two hours and three quarters, and contained as much partisan hate and bitter malignity as a tolerably smart copperhead could crowd in that amount of talk. I will not soil the new type of the Gazette by attempting to reproduce any of its venomous slanders against those who have been charged with the great and mighty duty of putting down this wicked and nefarious rebellion, brought on by the political yoke-fellows of Mr. Smith. He said all he could think of derogatory to the Administration, and denounced in unmeasured terms all the prominent acts of Mr. Lincoln which he and his friends thought were necessary and expedient in putting down the great Southern revolt. He said nothing new, but many things hateful and malicious. Any one familiar with the argument of the Ryan Address, or the editorials of the Chicago Times, will know what was the character of Smith's speech, when I assure him that it possessed the badness of both without the ability of either.

Brief speeches in reply to Smith were made by Messrs. Barry, Bingham, Hubbell and others, who probably occupied half as much time all combined as that taken up by Mr. Smith. "Divinity" Sanborn also took a "clatter" at the resolutions, in the course of which he said, speaking of the great Ohio warrier, that his friend from Dunn, (George B. Smith), deserved to be banished to Canada as much as Vallandigham did! This slip of the tongue was as true and as apposite, that the House became boisterous with laughter and applause. Without coming to a vote the Assembly adjourned at two o'clock A. M. on Wednesday.

Gen. Butler's Recent Movement—Its Objects and Why It Failed.

"Agents" of the well informed Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette gives the following particulars in reference to Gen. Butler's recent movement against Richmond:

Gen. Butler's plans embraced a co-ordinated movement of the Army of the Potomac, which should keep Lee too busy to attend to Richmond; and the division of his own force—once instructed to proceed as once to the destruction of the Tredegar Iron Works, another to prisoners confined in Libby Prison and on Belle Island, and the third to guard the avenues of escape and seize as many of the rebel officials as possible.

He visited Washington and laid these plans before the President. The President approved in the main, but referred him to Gen. Halleck. "I don't care anything about your plans; if you move on Richmond you do it on your own responsibility," was the substance of that officer's reply. Gen. Butler decided, if he would give him the troops, to take the responsibility, and returned to Fortress Monroe.

He had his eyes all through Richmond, and had familiarized himself with the defenses, avenues of approach and numbers to be overcome. It was reported that our prisoners were likely to be speedily removed to safer points in the Confederacy, and whatever was done, therefore, required to be done speedily.

Statements of the case and requests for the needed troops were sent to Washington; and on this will be furnished the arrangements for the movement were all completed. With five or six thousand cavalry (for, of course, the quick work of the dash into the rebel capital must be done by cavalry), he would have been satisfied. After waiting and waiting until the last possible moment, he received a beggarly three or four hundred!

This is the real secret of the brilliant failure. Gen. Butler determined to go ahead, and make the effort anyway; but his original plans had not depended upon absolute surprise of the rebel garrison at Richmond for their success. There were forty thousand spare troops about Washington. With five thousand more cavalry the leader of the expedition would have been prepared to force his way into the town, and liberate the prisoners, at least, whether the remainder of the programme had or had not been defeated by the untimely disclosure.

The Siege of Charleston.

A late letter from Charleston harbor to the Baltimore American says:

We have a constant and steady stream of deserters coming in, varying in number from four to ten daily. The majority of them are from North Carolina, but a large number are also from Virginia. A few every State is also represented. A few night ago, a rebel Lieutenant from Georgia came in. Day before yesterday Gen. Beauregard's baggage was deserted in a bag, and came over to Admiral Dahlgren. Their news is very interesting to the North. It seems that the rebels have eight torpedo boats like the David that attacked the Ironclad. These boats are all ready and are expected to come down tonight. They are represented as larger and as carrying two persons more than the original one. They perform great difficulty in getting across for them, although there are plenty of officers who volunteer for the duty.

The submarine affair, they say, came out of Beaufort last week, and was intended to attack the Monitor, but she sunk when on the passage, and drowned all hands. She was raised the succeeding night and towed in again. This makes the third time she has sunk, and drowned all hands. Eight vessels (blockade-runners) are expected soon by the rebels, loaded with a valuable cargo of guns and ammunition. The fleet is on the march. The number of vessels outside the bar has been doubled, and increased all the way up to night, and our people are well armed. The monitors have been rendered impregnable by tinders floating and torpedoes.

There have been lately two large fires in Charleston, caused by our shells. Do not say that they are now divided into two districts, viz: "in range" and "out of range," and that no other expression is used. "You hear constantly such remarks as 'Where are you going?' 'Well, I am going down in range,' or 'I am going out of range now.' 'Burglaries' occur every night in range, to the inhabitants do not dare to go to sleep, for a piece of one of the guns in Wagner's fort fired a piece out of St. Andrew's window last Sunday. It must have created a sensation, as they were holding worship there.

FROM MADISON.

Editorial Correspondence.
MADISON, March 2, 1864.
Yesterday afternoon we set apart for the consideration of the political resolutions introduced by Gen. Starks, endorsing the Administration of Abraham Lincoln, and recommending his re-election to the Presidency. As was to be expected, Gen. B. Smith gave us a rehearsal of the copperhead arguments against the policy of the Administration in carrying on the war, the same that have been the burden of every rebel sympathizer's song for the last two years, whether on the stump or in the newspapers. It occupied, in its delivery, two hours and three quarters, and contained as much partisan hate and bitter malignity as a tolerably smart copperhead could crowd in that amount of talk. I will not soil the new type of the Gazette by attempting to reproduce any of its venomous slanders against those who have been charged with the great and mighty duty of putting down this wicked and nefarious rebellion, brought on by the political yoke-fellows of Mr. Smith. He said all he could think of derogatory to the Administration, and denounced in unmeasured terms all the prominent acts of Mr. Lincoln which he and his friends thought were necessary and expedient in putting down the great Southern revolt. He said nothing new, but many things hateful and malicious. Any one familiar with the argument of the Ryan Address, or the editorials of the Chicago Times, will know what was the character of Smith's speech, when I assure him that it possessed the badness of both without the ability of either.

Brief speeches in reply to Smith were made by Messrs. Barry, Bingham, Hubbell and others, who probably occupied half as much time all combined as that taken up by Mr. Smith. "Divinity" Sanborn also took a "clatter" at the resolutions, in the course of which he said, speaking of the great Ohio warrier, that his friend from Dunn, (George B. Smith), deserved to be banished to Canada as much as Vallandigham did! This slip of the tongue was as true and as apposite, that the House became boisterous with laughter and applause. Without coming to a vote the Assembly adjourned at two o'clock A. M. on Wednesday.

Gen. Butler's Recent Movement—Its Objects and Why It Failed.

"Agents" of the well informed Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette gives the following particulars in reference to Gen. Butler's recent movement against Richmond:

Gen. Butler's plans embraced a co-ordinated movement of the Army of the Potomac, which should keep Lee too busy to attend to Richmond; and the division of his own force—once instructed to proceed as once to the destruction of the Tredegar Iron Works, another to prisoners confined in Libby Prison and on Belle Island, and the third to guard the avenues of escape and seize as many of the rebel officials as possible.

He visited Washington and laid these plans before the President. The President approved in the main, but referred him to Gen. Halleck. "I don't care anything about your plans; if you move on Richmond you do it on your own responsibility," was the substance of that officer's reply. Gen. Butler decided, if he would give him the troops, to take the responsibility, and returned to Fortress Monroe.

He had his eyes all through Richmond, and had familiarized himself with the defenses, avenues of approach and numbers to be overcome. It was reported that our prisoners were likely to be speedily removed to safer points in the Confederacy, and whatever was done, therefore, required to be done speedily.

Statements of the case and requests for the needed troops were sent to Washington; and on this will be furnished the arrangements for the movement were all completed. With five or six thousand cavalry (for, of course, the quick work of the dash into the rebel capital must be done by cavalry), he would have been satisfied. After waiting and waiting until the last possible moment, he received a beggarly three or four hundred!

This is the real secret of the brilliant failure. Gen. Butler determined to go ahead, and make the effort anyway; but his original plans had not depended upon absolute surprise of the rebel garrison at Richmond for their success. There were forty thousand spare troops about Washington. With five thousand more cavalry the leader of the expedition would have been prepared to force his way into the town, and liberate the prisoners, at least, whether the remainder of the programme had or had not been defeated by the untimely disclosure.

The Siege of Charleston.

A late letter from Charleston harbor to the Baltimore American says:

We have a constant and steady stream of deserters coming in, varying in number from four to ten daily. The majority of them are from North Carolina, but a large number are also from Virginia. A few every State is also represented. A few night ago, a rebel Lieutenant from Georgia came in. Day before yesterday Gen. Beauregard's baggage was deserted in a bag, and came over to Admiral Dahlgren. Their news is very interesting to the North. It seems that the rebels have eight torpedo boats like the David that attacked the Ironclad. These boats are all ready and are expected to come down tonight. They are represented as larger and as carrying two persons more than the original one. They perform great difficulty in getting across for them, although there are plenty of officers who volunteer for the duty.

The submarine affair, they say, came out of Beaufort last week, and was intended to attack the Monitor, but she sunk when on the passage, and drowned all hands. She was raised the succeeding night and towed in again. This makes the third time she has sunk, and drowned all hands. Eight vessels (blockade-runners) are expected soon by the rebels, loaded with a valuable cargo of guns and ammunition. The fleet is on the march. The number of vessels outside the bar has been doubled, and increased all the way up to night, and our people are well armed. The monitors have been rendered impregnable by tinders floating and torpedoes.

There have been lately two large fires in Charleston, caused by our shells. Do not say that they are now divided into two districts, viz: "in range" and "out of range," and that no other expression is used. "You hear constantly such remarks as 'Where are you going?' 'Well, I am going down in range,' or 'I am going out of range now.' 'Burglaries' occur every night in range, to the inhabitants do not dare to go to sleep, for a piece of one of the guns in Wagner's fort fired a piece out of St. Andrew's window last Sunday. It must have created a sensation, as they were holding worship there.

FROM MADISON.

Editorial Correspondence.
MADISON, March 2, 1864.
Yesterday afternoon we set apart for the consideration of the political resolutions introduced by Gen. Starks, endorsing the Administration of Abraham Lincoln, and recommending his re-election to the Presidency. As was to be expected, Gen. B. Smith gave us a rehearsal of the copperhead arguments against the policy of the Administration in carrying on the war, the same that have been the burden of every rebel sympathizer's song for the last two years, whether on the stump or in the newspapers. It occupied, in its delivery, two hours and three quarters, and contained as much partisan hate and bitter malignity as a tolerably smart copperhead could crowd in that amount of talk. I will not soil the new type of the Gazette by attempting to reproduce any of its venomous slanders against those who have been charged with the great and mighty duty of putting down this wicked and nefarious rebellion, brought on by the political yoke-fellows of Mr. Smith. He said all he could think of derogatory to the Administration, and denounced in unmeasured terms all the prominent acts of Mr. Lincoln which he and his friends thought were necessary and expedient in putting down the great Southern revolt. He said nothing new, but many things hateful and malicious. Any one familiar with the argument of the Ryan Address, or the editorials of the Chicago Times, will know what was the character of Smith's speech, when I assure him that it possessed the badness of both without the ability of either.

Brief speeches in reply to Smith were made by Messrs. Barry, Bingham, Hubbell and others, who probably occupied half as much time all combined as that taken up by Mr. Smith. "Divinity" Sanborn also took a "clatter" at the resolutions, in the course of which he said, speaking of the great Ohio warrier, that his friend from Dunn, (George B. Smith), deserved to be banished to Canada as much as Vallandigham did! This slip of the tongue was as true and as apposite, that the House became boisterous with laughter and applause. Without coming to a vote the Assembly adjourned at two o'clock A. M. on Wednesday.

Gen. Butler's Recent Movement—Its Objects and Why It Failed.

"Agents" of the well informed Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette gives the following particulars in reference to Gen. Butler's recent movement against Richmond:

Gen. Butler's plans embraced a co-ordinated movement of the Army of the Potomac, which should keep Lee too busy to attend to Richmond; and the division of his own force—once instructed to proceed as once to the destruction of the Tredegar Iron Works, another to prisoners confined in Libby Prison and on Belle Island, and the third to guard the avenues of escape and seize as many of the rebel officials as possible.

He visited Washington and laid these plans before the President. The President approved in the main, but referred him to Gen. Halleck. "I don't care anything about your plans; if you move on Richmond you do it on your own responsibility," was the substance of that officer's reply. Gen. Butler decided, if he would give him the troops, to take the responsibility, and returned to Fortress Monroe.

He had his eyes all through Richmond, and had familiarized himself with the defenses, avenues of approach and numbers to be overcome. It was reported that our prisoners were likely to be speedily removed to safer points in the Confederacy, and whatever was done, therefore, required to be done speedily.

Statements of the case and requests for the needed troops were sent to Washington; and on this will be furnished the arrangements for the movement were all completed. With five or six thousand cavalry (for, of course, the quick work of the dash into the rebel capital must be done by cavalry), he would have been satisfied. After waiting and waiting until the last possible moment, he received a beggarly three or four hundred!

This is the real secret of the brilliant failure. Gen. Butler determined to go ahead, and make the effort anyway; but his original plans had not depended upon absolute surprise of the rebel garrison at Richmond for their success. There were forty thousand spare troops about Washington. With five thousand more cavalry the leader of the expedition would have been prepared to force his way into the town, and liberate the prisoners, at least, whether the remainder of the programme had or had not been defeated by the untimely disclosure.

The Siege of Charleston.

A late letter from Charleston harbor to the Baltimore American says:

We have a constant and steady stream of deserters coming in, varying in number from four to ten daily. The majority of them are from North Carolina, but a large number are also from Virginia. A few every State is also represented. A few night ago, a rebel Lieutenant from Georgia came in. Day before yesterday Gen. Beauregard's baggage was deserted in a bag, and came over to Admiral Dahlgren. Their news is very interesting to the North. It seems that the rebels have eight torpedo boats like the David that attacked the Ironclad. These boats are all ready and are expected to come down tonight. They are represented as larger and as carrying two persons more than the original one. They perform great difficulty in getting across for them, although there are plenty of officers who volunteer for the duty.

The submarine affair, they say, came out of Beaufort last week, and was intended to attack the Monitor, but she sunk when on the passage, and drowned all hands. She was raised the succeeding night and towed in again. This makes the third time she has sunk, and drowned all hands. Eight vessels (blockade-runners) are expected soon by the rebels, loaded with a valuable cargo of guns and ammunition. The fleet is on the march. The number of vessels outside the bar has been doubled, and increased all the way up to night, and our people are well armed. The monitors have been rendered impregnable by tinders floating and torpedoes.

There have been lately two large fires in Charleston, caused by our shells. Do not say that they are now divided into two districts, viz: "in range" and "out of range," and that no other expression is used. "You hear constantly such remarks as 'Where are you going?' 'Well, I am going down in range,' or 'I am going out of range now.' 'Burglaries' occur every night in range, to the inhabitants do not dare to go to sleep, for a piece of one of the guns in Wagner's fort fired a piece out of St. Andrew's window last Sunday. It must have created a sensation, as they were holding worship there.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Reported Expressly for the Gazette.

OUR MORNING DISPATCHES.

Army of the Potomac!!

Custer's Expedition Successful!

Kilpatrick near Richmond!

Longstreet's Retreat Confessed by Rebs.

More Union Prisoners Escaped!

Rebel Misrepresentations!!

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Star says Gen. Custer has returned to this side the Rapidan from his cavalry expedition, having successfully accomplished the part of the work which he started out to do. He has returned the flanks of Lee's army considerably, and near Stauntonville surprised the rebel camp, which he burned and totally destroyed, captured a number of prisoners, and got possession of a large number of horses. Gen. Custer did not lose a man in the expedition.

Nothing is officially known of the whereabouts of Kilpatrick. It is said in well informed circles that on Monday he was in Spotsylvania Co. Va., which, according to the Gazette, is 55 miles from Richmond. An officer who arrived here to-night from the Army of the Potomac reports that when last heard from he was within 18 miles of Richmond. This, however, may be more surmise; as there is no common belief by which such a fact could be ascertained.

Custer's movement was to drive, or draw the attention of the enemy while Kilpatrick rode jauntily in another direction. The supposition is, he got a fair start with no danger in his rear. He has certainly had sufficient time to reach Richmond.

FROM THE SOUTH.

New York, March 2.—We have Richmond papers to Monday last, inclusive. Their war news is not important.

A dispatch from Demopolis, of the 23d ult., represents the Union force under Sherman making a retrograde move.

Their stories of the cavalry fighting in Northern Mississippi are about the same as ours from Memphis. Grant's movements bothered them, though they claim his advance has been repulsed. They say that the Union force passed through Tunnel Hill on the 25th, and would not probably make a stand nearer than Chickasaw.

Longstreet's retreat is practically confessed.

A Mobile dispatch of the 23d says that fire was opened that day on Fort Powell by six monitors and four guns, and continued all day.

The Florida affair is made much of, and with reason, but the rebels concede severe losses on their side.

Lieut. Coulson, of the United States regulars, one of the escaped from Libby, had been retaken.

Thirty-one Union prisoners escaped while going from Richmond to Georgia, near Augusta.

The editorials of journals before us are full of brag about the bright prospects of the South and the desperation, demoralization, bankruptcy and utter hopelessness of the North.

THE RAID ON RICHMOND.

MEMPHIS, March 2.—Special to the Herald—Kilpatrick, at the head of a large force of cavalry, left this place Saturday evening on a grand raid. The strength of the entire command we do not know. On Tuesday night the command occupied at Old Vicksburg, on the Fredericksburg and Orange Court House plankroad, eight miles south of the Rapidan.

On Sunday morning the force dismounted in front of the enemy's works, upon Mine Run, deployed as infantry, in order to cause the enemy to mass in that locality. To resist an attack in this capacity, they needed all day and all night rested in a retired and safe position between Vandersville and Robinson's Tavern. At three o'clock Monday morning, General Kilpatrick took up his march southward, towards the junction of the Virginia Central and Richmond and Fredericksburg Railroad, arriving at Spotsylvania Court House just at dark. From this point Col. Dahlgren, with a selected detachment from the cavalry, was dispatched to Fredericksburg, Hall, midway between the Junction on the above named roads and Gordonsville, where had been packed the whole rebel reserve of artillery. Col. Dahlgren was to have destroyed the artillery, the roads and telegraph, and rejoin General Kilpatrick or report in the morning.

Tuesday, March 1st.—At seven o'clock last evening the expedition was heard from and then everything was going on swimmingly and according to programme.

Fredericksburg is 40 miles per rail from Richmond, and Hanover Junction is 20.

WANTED—A Situation as a Teacher.

I am a family of young ladies, and am qualified to teach the rudiments of English, French, Music, &c. or would like a home, for a family where instruction of the piano or instruction would be given to the board. For terms of instruction apply to the advertiser.

Address L. C. D. Janesville, Wis. 210214-2

REMOVAL—DR. HALE has removed.

from the Third and Long streets, to the corner of Third and Long streets, Janesville, Wis. 210214-2

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Rebels Report Sherman Retreating!

AFFAIRS IN MEXICO!!

FOREIGN NEWS BY THE CANADA!

Germans Repulsed by the Danes!

THE ARKANSAS ELECTION!

FROM THE SOUTH.

New York, March 3d.—The Richmond Examiner of the 24th says: An official dispatch was received at the War Department last night, from Polk, stating that Sherman's forces had evacuated Meridian and were retreating in two columns towards Vicksburg. It is supposed finding his designs on Mobile were thwarted, and his cavalry reinforcements intercepted, and being in distress for supplies, he was forced to abandon his expedition and take expert expedient of retreat through a country stripped of supplies and laid waste by his advance. Whether he can retreat successfully remains to be seen.

FROM MEXICO.

New York, March 3.—A Matamorras letter to the World reports that the French have evacuated Puebla, Cordova, Salapa and Orizaba, for lack of men to garrison them.

The Mexican army, under Arzaga is said to be 45,000. It is rumored that he had been defeated by Gen. Besainet.

Large trains of mules are arriving daily at Matamorras from Texas.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Provost Marshal General Fry, has issued a circular to-day, ordering boards of enrollment to commence draft on the 10th in all sub-districts which had not filled their quota before the 1st inst. All volunteers who actually enlist before the draft is made, will be deducted from quotas. If the quota is not filled by the first draft, the boards shall make further drafts until the quotas is obtained.

FROM EUROPE.

New York, March 3.—Additional by the steamer Canada.

Consuls closed at 90. The fall of funds was caused by the speech of Palmerston. Increasing fears of other complications arising out of the Danish war.

The English squadron in the Tagus has been ordered to return to England.

French opinion seems to be settling in favor of Denmark, and some anonymous letter warnings to Prussia.

The Germans were repulsed in the general attack on the whole line of the Danish position.

The steamer Great Eastern has been chartered

Figure 4 shows the character in the plot

AL SALE!

AND FANCY

GOODS!

& BRO.

ALL IN PRICES!

Let to be closed out, preparing for Spring Trade. Sale to commence on or until the February, 1864!

Fancy Silks Reduced
cent.

Winter Cloaks Reduced
cent.

Wools Reduced in price

Shirts Reduced in price

Hoop Skirts Reduced
cent.

Shoes Reduced in price

Household Goods Reduced in cent.

OUR

THE CLOTHING!!

PRICE 40 PER CENT!

stock bought this Fall, we from New York a large lot of silk, Mr. Lyons, at the great to prices now selling at 50 to 60 cents per yard, the only part of the stock to give our customers the next thirty days; and since a list of prices, quality and price of the goods, and of the silks, in black and of the worst, also, sold at to do, only 10 shillings; black of the best Italian silk, 10 to 12, 3/4 yard wide, of French to sell at 11 shillings; a very silk at 20 cents per yard, to the price of French
silk, in drabs, browns, and, being a reduction of the
of the goods, at a reduction

PER CENT!

WOLLS! CLOAKS!

ten boxes cloaks, sold from to 7 dollars; all our cloak-ing; seeking cloakings at the.

WOLLS! FURS!

to $7.50; 8 dozen muffs
to $2.75 to $3.00; mink furs

KIRTS!!

manufacturer's stock of Hoop to our present price for the next to sell from 12 to 15 dollars;
to French
to other kinds in the same

now at $2.25
to $6, now at $1.00
to $1.50
to $4.00, now at $2.75

Dalmoral Shirts!

and will sell for thirty lot of shirts at one to 10 shillings (no large) to, at one dollar and fifty to of our tailors goods at

French Embroid-
Received;

Clothing!!

been selling at seven dollars,
to sell at five dollars;
to do; also our entire stock of
to do

CLOTH, STRAW
ING!

received. In conclusion, we

LETE STOCK

ected carefully to meet the of the community. Any goods remaining, Mr. Lyons is perfectly ready to receive them, and to for our different depart-

For Sale!

and, France and German continental Europe, by first shipper and Packet Ships,

AMERICAN GOLD
R COIN!

for any business we
to do

For & Brother,
Golden Street, East Side

PATENT APPLICATIONS.

$100 - REWARD -
FOR A MEDICINE THAT WILL CURE -

COUGHS, INFLUENZA,
TICKLING IN THE THROAT,
WHOPPING COUGH,
Or Relieve CONSUMPTIVE COUGH

AS QUICK AS

COE'S
COUGH BALSAM

Over Five Thousand Bottles have been sold in its native land, and more are to be done, and it is there to be known. We have, in our possession, many quantities of certified, some of them from eminent Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and given it the pre-eminence over any other compound.

It does not Dry up a Cough,

but loosens it, so as to enable the patient to expecto-rate freely. Two or three doses will invariably cure Tickling in the throat. A half bottle has often COS-TLY BY CURING the most

STUBBORN COUGH,

and yet, though it is so sure and speedy in its operation, it is perfectly harmless, being purely vegetable.
It is very agreeable to the taste, and may be administered to children of any age.

IN CASES OF CROUP,

we will guarantee a cure if taken in season. No family could be without it. It is within the reach of all the price being

Only Twenty-Five Cts

and if an investment and thorough trial does not back up the above statement, the money will be refunded. We are rich, knowing its merits, and feel confident that one trial will be a cure for it home in every household.

DO NOT WASTE AWAY WITH COUGHING,

which so small an investment will cure you. It may be had of any respectable druggist in town, who will furnish you with a circular giving names of cures it has made.

For sale by
No. 41 N. WAB & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
New York, Conn., & Foreign.

For sale by Druggists in every country and everywhere. "LORD & SON'S," Wholesale Agents, No. 23
Lake street, Chicago, Gen'l Western Agents.

Retained in, JONATHAN L. TALLMAN & COLLINS,
B. B. COLWELL, DR. EDWIN, & Druggists generally. No. 114 Nassau St.

NOTICE FOR 1861!

ESPECIALLY TO THE SICK!

DR. V. CLARENCE PRICE,
Analyst of Physicians,
LATE OF BUFFALO, N. Y.

To the cure of all Chronic Diseases, in all the various forms of letters, DR. PRICE, has for years devoted his whole attention, system of treatment combines brevity, and the most successful results guaranteed. No prescription. No trifling. No exception. No misleading skill. As in all nature, Permanent from all others. No system living has had more extensive facilities of this sort.

Bones, Throat, Liver, Kidneys, Rheumatism, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Pains, Itch, Complaids, and all other ailments are cured without exhausting the energy of the system, or the use of any medicine.

We desire simply to call, Computation free, a candid opinion of our claims. We move regularly with the times for you, and shall continue regularly to do so.

Dr. Price receives patients at his next visit:

Jenaville, Hyatt House, on Saturday and Sunday, the 18th and 19th of Nov.

Waterbury, Kenton House, 9th of Decr.

Waukegan, Illinois, a residence, where all letters should be sent. 24th

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers.

The original Medicine established in 1837, and first article of the kind introduced under its name of "Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers," and which cures all other Pulmonic Wafers cannot cure. This medicine can be known by the name BRYAN being stamped on each wafer.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS.
Relieve Coughs, Colds, sore Throat, Hoarseness.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS.
Relieve Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficult breathing.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS.
Relieve Spitting of Blood, and all other Hemorrhages.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS.
Relieve Impetuous Consumption, Lung Disease.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS.
Relieve Irritation of the Uterus and Ovaries.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS.
Relieve the Abuse of the Throat and Larynx.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS.
Are a blessing to all Croup and Coughs.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS.

[illegible]

SAVING OF 80 PER CENT.
 For 25 cents you can order as many pens as you would otherwise cost five times that sum. A very useful lesson in profit is shown from their simplicity. The process is simple, the pens are made in the best manner, and the pens are sold at a price that is very low. The pens are made in England, France and Germany, and are sold at a price that is very low. The pens are made in England, France and Germany, and are sold at a price that is very low.

For further information in this case, and giving a perfect knowledge of what you are to receive, please send over others, with many valuable receipts purchased. Have a perfect knowledge of what you are to receive, please send over others, with many valuable receipts purchased. Have a perfect knowledge of what you are to receive, please send over others, with many valuable receipts purchased.

Manufactured by HOWE & STEVENS,
 219 Broadway, N. Y.

For sale by Bruggate and Sons, 129 Broadway, N. Y.

PIANO FORTE AND ORGAN
 Mrs. N. E. O'ROOD will be happy to give instruction to those who may desire it, in
PIANO FORTE AND ORGAN MUSIC
 Harmony and Thorough Bass. R. H. Jones in Jackson Street, three doors south of the Methodist Church.
 N. E. H. Institute, given at the residence of her pupils, free of charge.

January 15, Feb. 21, Feb. 28, 1861

FOUND—A Pocket-Book, Containing a small sum of money, which the owner can have by calling on the undersigned.
 J. H. H.

PATENT MEDICINES.

$100.00

FOR A REMEDY THAT WILL CURE
COUGHS, INFLUENZA,
TICKLING IN THE THROAT,
PHLOGOPIC COUGH,
OR RELIEVE CONSUMPTIVE COUGH, AT QUICK AS GOE'S
COUGH BALSA
Over Five Thousand Bottles have been sold in this city, and not a single instance of its failure known. We have, in our possession, many grateful certificates, some of them from eminent Physicians who have used it in their practice, and given it
pre-eminence over any other compound.

It does not Dry up a Cough,

But because it is so hard to enable the patient to ex-rate freely. Two or three doses will invariably and yet, though it is so sure and speedy in its action, it is perfectly harmless, being purely vegetable. It is very agreeable to the taste, and may be administered to children of any age.

STUBBORN COUGH,

IN CASES OF CROUP,

we will guarantee a cure if taken in season. No child would be without it. It is within the reach of the poor being.

Only Twenty-Five Cents

and if an investment and thorough trial does

"back up" the above statement, the money will be funded. We say this knowing its merits and for

DO NOT WASTE AWAY WITH COUGH

when to small an investment will cure you. It is had of any respectable druggist in town, furnish you with a circular of genuine cough cures It has made.

C. G. CLARK & CO.,
Wholesale Druggists,
New Haven, Conn., Proprs.

For sale by Druggists, confectioners and where. LORD & SONS, 111 N. State St., Druggists, Lake street, Chicago, Genl. Western Agents.

Retained in Jacksonville by TALLMAN & CO.
C. B. COWELL, DR. RIVER, and Druggists ally.

NOTICE FOR 1864!

ESPECIALLY TO THE SICK

DR. V. CLARENCE PRICE
Analytical Physician
LATE OF BUFFALO, N. Y.

To the cure of all Chronic Diseases, in all cases taken and kept. DR. PRICE has by his system of his whole attention. System of treatment, and the use of one that has successful. No deception! No trifling! No doubt. No making sick! Absolute nature. Permanent.

cures effected without experiment. Practice, from all others. No physician living has had as

[illegible]

Relieve Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness

Relieve Asthma, Bronchitis, Difficult Breathing
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
 Relieve Spitting of Blood; Ease in the Chest
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
 Relieve Irritable Consumption, Lung Weakness and all Lung Affections
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
 Relieve Irritation of the Croup and Trachea
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
 Relieve the above Complaints in ten minutes
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
 Are a blessing to all Croup and Constipation
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
 Are adapted for Vocalists and Public Speakers
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
 Are a simple form and pleasant to the taste
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
 Not only relieve, but effect rapid and lasting cures
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
 Are warranted to give satisfaction to every one

No Family should be without a box

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
In the lungs.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS
in his pocket.
No person will ever object to cure for
BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS.
Twenty-Five Cents.

JOB MOSES, Sole Proprietor,
Said by Telegram & Courier
at Cornland street, New York.

FAMILY DYE COLORS.

Patented October 13, 1863.

Black,
Hazel, Fast Blue,
Dark Blue,
Light Blue,
French Blue,
Carmine Brown,
Claret Brown,
Lime Green,
Sauff Brown,
Cherry,
Orange,

Dark Red,
Light Red,
Scarlet,
Vermilion,
Amber,
Orange,
Pink,
Purple,
Royal Blue,
Sea-foam,
Green.

The circular logo contains a central illustration of a woman sitting at a table, dipping a piece of fabric into a bowl. The words "FAMLY DYE COLOURS" are written around the perimeter of the circle.

Dark Drab,

For Dyeing Silk, Woolen, and Mixed Goods, the Scarle, Dyeing, Ribbons, Linens, Hosiery, and Treasures, and all other Children's Clothing and all kinds of Wearing Apparel

Save A Saving of 80 Per Cent.

For 20 cents you can color as many yards as otherwise cost five times that sum. Various shades are produced from the same dye. The process is and any one can use it. The price is 20 cents per yard. Longing, French and German, trade packages.

For further information in Dyeing, and giving full knowledge that dyeing is best adapted to the present, and the future, and the present, and Stevens' Treatise on Dyeing, and Coloring. See and on receipt of price—100—

Manufactured by 250 Broadway, New York.

For sale by bruggists and dealers generally.

PIANO FORTE AND ORG.
Mrs. S. FOORD
 will be happy to give instruction to those who desire it, in
PIANO FORTE AND ORGAN MUSIC
 Harmony and Thorough Bass. Residence on Jackson Street. Give three fourths of the Methodist church.
 N. B. Instruction given at the residence of pupils if desired. feb2 Jacksonville, Feb. 21, 1893.

FOUND—A Pocket-Book, containing a small sum of money, which the owner has by calling on the undersigned.
 G. L. BEEBLE.